Audio and Video

Accessibility Statement: If you use audio or video files

View an accessible page using audio files
View an inaccessible page using audio files

1. Provide a description/transcript in text form. It can be on the same page, or a hyperlink to a separate page can be placed near the clip.

2. A description of the video should be available in audio form as well.

3. Use subtitles in your video.

4. Provide a text description of the audio if it includes sound information other than words. It can be on the same page, or a hyperlink to a separate page can be placed near the clip.

5. Check accessibility by viewing your page in multiple browsers and platforms, then verify it with tools like CAST's on-line BOBBY verification tool.

Read the relevant W3C guideline -- 1.1 1.3 1.4
Return to the checklist

Adapted with permission from web accessibility pages at Penn State